Poultrymen Will Serve Bar-B-Que

The Lancaster County Poultry Assn. is planning another series of four of the popular winter broiler Bar-B-Ques similar to the ones it sponsored last year. First of the events is scheduled to be held on Saturday, Dec. 12. Other dates are January 16, February 13 and March 12.

Special rates for the half chickens are available to any organization wishing to sell advance tickets and have a complete supper at their own premises. Fire companies, church groups, and other organizations with advance orders for 25 or more halves are entitled to this special discount.

Officials of the Poultry Association feel that last year's Bar-B-Ques helped to stimulate interest in the poultry industry and help to hold the line against sagging poultry prices.

Take out orders of chicken will be available at the Lan-

Six County 4-H Members Attend Natl. Convention

Six young people from Lancaster county will be heading for the Windy City this weekend, accompanied by two of the staff members of the Agricultural Extension Office. Four of the 4-H club members will be attending National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago with Associate County Agent, Harry Sloat, while the other two members accompanied by Assistant County Agent Victor Plasto will represent Pennsylvania. At the International Dairy Show just a few days later.

Attending Club Congress from November 29 to December 3 will be Fred Bernhard, Mount Joy; Donald Hosler, Manheim R3; Glenn Porter, Washington Boro R1 and Miss Linda Mumma, of Manheim R1.

Accompanying Plasto on the automobile trip to the dairy show on December 3 to 5 will be Kenneth Young, Mount Joy R1 and Melvin Shenk, Mount Joy R2.

Porter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Porter, is the Pennsylvania winner in the Leadership bracket of the National Awards Program, and will represent the state as exemplifying a well rounded club member. In winning the award, Porter submitted his entire 4-H record His farming program as well as his other activities were taken into consideration. A repeat performer, Porter attended Club Congress in 1957 as State Poultry champion. In 4-H club work for 10 years, Porter, a high school graduate, is engaged in farming with his parents on the 149 acre home farm.

The only girl in the Lancaster County delegation will be Linda Mumma, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Mumma. Linda, a sophomore in the Home Economics curriculum at Juniata College won first place in the state in clothing construction demonstration. The trip will be an award for her win at 4-H Club week at the Pennsylvania State University in August.

LINDA MUMMA

Two other college students won the right to the trip by their demonstrated ability at 4-H club week. Donald Hosler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark W. Hosler, and Fred Bernhard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bernhard, will enter national

Jr. Chicken of Tomorrow Contest Is Discontinued

The Pennsylvania Junior Chicken - of - Tomorrow contest has been discontinued, according to the board of directors of the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation.

In making the announcement in the news bulletin of the federation, L. E Kegerreis, president, said that the only reason the contest has not been discontinued earlier was the interest shown by the 600 or 700 young people who entered the contest each year. For several years it has been questioned by the board of directors as to whether the contest has outlived its usefulness.

One of the main objectives of the C-O-T contest when it was started 14 yrs. ago was to develop a superior meat type chicken The board of directors feel that with the tremendous strides made by the commercial hatcherymen in the field of poultry breeding, the individual contestant in the C-O-T contest in the past few years has had very little to do with this goal

In addition, the commercial interests have become such in recent years that much of the incentive has been taken from the individual contestant, and that it is no longer profitable either economically or educationally to raise as small a flock of broilers as 50 or 100 birds.

Manpower requirements on such small flocks made close supervision of feed conversion and other efficiency records needed for an educational type program, almost impossible.

Approximately a year ago a C-O-T contest study committee was appointed. Among the committee members were representatives of every branch of the industry which had any connection with the contest and representatives of the state offices of FFA aand 4-H. It was the duty of this committee to recommend continuation of the contest or to suggest a substitute - a new youth program which the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation could sponsor. In recommending discontinuation of the present C-O-T contest the committee suggested that the Poultry Federation encourage already existing poultry projects in both the FFA and 4-H club work in the form of an Awards Program.

FIVE - DAY WEATHER FORECAST

Saturday - Wednesday

Temperatures for the next five days will average near or slightly above normal. Normal temperatures for this week range from a low of 38 at night to a high of 48 in the afternoon. Colder over the weekend. Warmer on Monday or Tuesday and colder again about Wednesday. Chance of some light precipitation about Monday or Tuesday.

Precipitation for the past week totaled .47 inch of rain which included some few snow flurries. Total rain for November has been 1.48 inches which is well below the 2.71 inches normal for the month.

Sisters Top Capon Show

The exhibits of two sisters stood first and second in the judging at the capon roundup of the Elizabethtown-Mt Joy 4-H club on Tuesday.

Virginia Wivell showed the grand championship birds while her younger sister Lillie Ann had reserve champions. The girls, daughters of Mr and Mrs Clyde Wivell Columbia R1, each fed 100 Vantress birds for their club projects, beginning with day old chicks on Apr. 3.

The win for Virginia comes as the reward for a four year march on the trophy. Her birds placed third in the contest for her initial try. The following year she advanced to second place, but last year had to fall back to regroup her forces and finished in fourth. This year the two plump capons on display weighed in at 9½ and 10 pounds. The heavier bird was

Kiwanis Presents Awards To Three

Essays pointing up the importance of soil and water conservation won prizes totaling $100 in savings bonds for three 4-H members on Tuesday.

The Lancaster Kiwanis club presented a $50 00 bond to Kenneth B. Garber, Willow Street R2. Darvin Boyd, Ephrata R1, and Donald Hossler, Manheim R3, both received a $25 00 savings bond

John C. Long, Sr. chairman of the agriculture committee made the presentations at the luncheon meeting of the club at the Brunkwisk Hotel.

Guest speaker at the meeting, which was built on the theme of Farm-City week was Dr. Herbert Albrecht, director of extension at the Pennsylvania State University. Dr. Albrecht in a talk illustrated with slides, stressed the importance and relationship between agriculture and business in Pennsyvania.

QUALITY HAY WAS THE SUBJECT of the demonstration which won a trip to Chicago for these two 4-H members. Kenneth Young, left, and Melvin Shenk, both of Mount Joy R1, discuss the hay on the farm before leaving for the National 4-H dairy conference. They will be accompanied on the trip by Victor Plasto, Assistant County Agent. The reasons for the suits in the barn? They knew the photographer was coming. —LF PHOTO

Egg money is BIG MONEY when you feed RED ROSE® LAYING MASH

The selection of the proper feed is a major factor in the operation of a successful poultry business. The kind, quality, and balance of the nutrients in the feed given the chickens determine how well the flock will grow, develop and lay

As a chick, a hen needed a feed with a high growth factor and a capacity for creating disease resistance As a pullet, she needed feeds to help develop her body As a layer a hen needs high energy feeds that provide the nutritional requirements under the strain of heavy laying

Your egg profits will jump when you start feeding Red Rose Laying Mash The high energy nutrients in Red Rose Laying Mash gives layers a perfect diet—and they produce at high rates

MANY HUNT AND FISH

Twenty-five million Americans hunt and fish, reports Robert Wingard, Penn State extension wildlife management specialist. They spend nearly $3,000,000,000 for 500,000,000 days of sport. In Pennsylvania alone sportsmen spend at least $140,000,000 each year.

PROTECT WATER SUPPLY

Underground drainage from septic tanks, cesspools, silos, and barnyards can ruin an otherwise good water supply, reminds Henry Woodling, Penn State extension agricultural engineer. He urges the use of adequate safeguards.

FROM WHERE WE STAND -

Wasted Youth Not Found Here

A humerous expression attributed to the playright, George Bernard Shaw goes, "Youth is such a wonderful thing, it is a shame to waste in on young people."

Six young people from Lancaster Co. have demonstrated this year that they have not wasted their youth and they have been rewarded for it. We know it is a well worn expression by now but it bears repeating that less than three out of 100 young people in the country ever become involved with the police.

This is sometimes difficult for us to believe when we hear so much about the delinquent youth, but so many times when a young person does an outstanding piece of work it goes unnoticed or gets scant notice at best.

We believe that one of the reasons the crime rate among the young people in urban areas is greater than in rural areas is the lack of organized activity, profitable activity, available to the young person in the city.

We believe that youth organizations such as the 4-H and the FFA. and FHA, deserve the wholehearted support of every farm family in the country whether or not that family has a boy or girl eligible to enroll in one of the clubs.

But to have a forward looking program for rural youth such as we do have in Lancaster County we need not only support from the parents and friends, but we must have qualified leaders.

At this time of year we should pause a moment to pay tribute to the persons who devote their life and energies to the task of helping young people avoid wasting their youth. We should be thankful for the Extension personnel, the teachers of Vocational Agriculture and Home Economics in our public schools and for the many volunteer leaders who give willingly of their time with no return except the satisfaction of a job well done.

We agree that youth is a wonderful thing, and we want to congratulate the six young 4-H'ers for their accomplishments and say, "Well done." We think they have merited this trip, and we are sure that our country will be proud of their activities in Chicago.

Youth has not been wasted on these six young people.

At least that's how it looks from where we stand.

Day of Thanks

There are many things for which we, all of us, should bow our heads in reverent thanks this Thanksgiving week.

There is both peace throughout nearly all parts of the world, and bright hopes of universal good will among all men Our boys are at home instead of on some far away battlefield.

We have an abundance of the good things of life. We are thankful that we can share this abundance with the less fortunate people in many parts of the world Christ said that as "you do it unto the least of these you do it unto me."

Some 300 years ago the Pilgrims assembled in their meeting places to bow in thanks for a meager harvest that would, nevertheless, assure them food until the next harvest. Our cup of plenty overflows.

Apostle Paul

The observance of a specified day for Thanksgiving is comparatively new, but the Bible (16th Chapter, Book of Acts tells of a day two thousands years ago when the Apostle Paul and Silas were arrested, though they had done no wrong.

They were flogged unmercifully and thrown into a dungeon From that dungeon came a song of praise and thankfulness to God. They sang His praise because they were thankful for the strength. His spiritual guidance gave them.

Thankfulness, like happiness, is a state of mind. It comes from the peace that is within our hearts as we pause to consider our many

About Face!

Lesson for November 29, 1959

OUTSIDE of what we are told about Jesus in the four Gospels, what event is the most important of all those described in the New Testament? Most intelligent Christians would probably agree on one particular event. If it had not happened, nearly half the New Testament books could not have been written If it had not happened, over a quarter of the pages of the New Testament would be blank. If it had not happened, Christianity might well have died by strangulation. For there were many who wanted to strangle it in its cradle, and except for one man they might have succeeded.

Dr. Foreman

Why, Saint Paul happened, to be sure! He himself never would say it "happened" and we do not mean that it was a happen-so, a chance occurrence He believed, to his dying day that God planned it, and we may well believe he was right.

Confronted With Christ

Saints do not become saints over night. But they have to start somewhere, somehow. The amazing thing about Paul is that he did an absolute about-face, after a certain day near the city of Damascus in Syria. He was, to put it in one word, converted. That means, in still plainer English, turned around, faced backward from the way the person was going, started in the opposite direction.

It is quite a mistake to think that unless you are converted just as Saint Paul was converted, you haven't been converted at all That is as silly as saying that if you haven't married a girl exactly like my wife, you aren't really married. As Saint Paul was a unique character any way you look at him, his conversion would be unique too. Further, his situation was decidedly a strange one. He was a professional religious man, engaged in wholesale murder. He was a man who belonged to one of the strictest religious sects of that or any other era, and yet engaged in trying to smash up people who were actually better than he was. He was a man who was passionately devoted to serving God, spending his time making life miserable (when he could not actually kill them) for persons who understood God better than he did.

A man like that, you would think, is not likely to have a "conventional" or average religious experience. Budding Saint Pauls since his time may have had somewhat similar conversions; but John Doe usually has the John Doe type of conversion.

Confronted With Christ

For all that, while much in the circumstances of Paul's conversion (to use a name he did not actually bear till some time later) was peculiar, bizarre or awe-inspiring as you might think it, still basically it was a Christian conversion, with the basic Christian elements plainly in it. First of all, it was confronting Christ. It was a kind of miracle in Paul's case. The miracle may not be so spectacular in other cases but Christ is always there at the beginning of every really Christian life It may be a Confucian scholar reading a Bible for the first time; it may be an artist attracted by a picture of the Last Supper; it may be a French agnostic, seeing Christ in his wife's character; or a middle-aged man remembering one day how his mother used to pray Somehow or other, all conversion is based on this meeting between an individual and Christ.

The First Two Questions

Years later Paul told the story of his conversion, to some people who at the moment were bent on killing him. He added something to the story told in Acts (the best manuscripts). He relates two questions, not one, which he asked in that great and awesome hour near Damascus The first question: "Who art Thou, Lord?" and the second one: "What will you have me to do?" (See Acts 22) On those two questions hung all his future life Note three things here: he put his questions now to the highest Authority; he wanted to know all about Jesus; and he put his life at the disposal of his Lord. This is the essence of conversion.

TO TRAP THOSE MUSKRATS—On many farms extra income may be realized from the sale of muskrat pelts. The season opened Nov. 21st and will run until January 16th. Farm pond owners should especially take advantage of this period to eliminate the muskrat problem and reduce pond bank damages. Along many creeks and small runs the muskrat population is increasing and damage is more evident. The changing of the course of a stream out into pasture or crop land may be prevented by a heavy trapping campaign.

TO PUT COLOR INTO HUNTING TOGS— The big game hunting season is at hand and many hunters will be exposed to the sharp eye of other hunters. Hunting safety is very important at all times and every percaution should be taken to prevent an accident The color of the clothing is important in the woods in order not to be mistaken for game. Wear either bright red or yelow to be seen easily by other hunters; yellow is actually more visible than the traditional red

TO TOPDRESS NEW SEEDINGS—The practice of topdressing small grain and new legume seeding with manure during late fall or early winter is to be encouraged. The manure will furnish some extra nitrogen next spring and more important, will help cover the ground this winter to prevent freezing out and heaving. This will be especially helpful in the case of very late seedings that did not get a good start.

TO CLEAN DRAINAGE TILE OUTLETS—In the case of a tile drainage system the condition of the outlet in many cases determines the success of the entire system. Farmers are urged to inspect the outlet this fall and clean away any vegetation, silt, or other matter that may prevent the free flow of water from the line. If muskrats are under-mining the end of the tile line, then a concrete head-wall should be poured to prevent them from working back into the system. Without a clean outlet the tile system will silt full and be worthless.

Most people are not thankful unless they are more prosperous than they were a year earlier. They measure their happiness by material gains and forget the many blessings for which they should be thankful.

Goats and Happiness

I like to illustrate this by by a story tld me many years ago about a Russian peasant in the time of the Czars. He went to his priest with a story about his unhappiness.

He was thinking about killing himself because his mother-in-law had come to live with his family in their one-room home She had, he said, made life unbearable.

The priest advised him to get a goat and take it to live in the home. The peasant, though puzzled by that advice, followed it. A year later he came back to the priest

"Life is worse than ever and I must kill myself," he told the priest. "No," said the priest, "buy another goat and take it into your home."

The peasant did as he was told, but at the end of that year he returned more depressed than ever. The odor of the goats and the ill temper of the mother in-law was more than he could bear.

"What shall I do?" he asked the priest "Get rid of the goats," said the priest. The peasant did as he was told, and a few weeks later returned to tell the priest he had never known such happiness

"I am so thankful to be rid of the goats that I do not mind by mother-in-law in the least," the peasant told the priest.

Beef Club Gets Calves

One hundred tnd thirty-two calves met their new owners last Saturday when 104 4-H boys and girls met at the New Holland sales stables to draw numbers foi their calves for the 1960 club season This number of 4-H baby beef club members represents an increase of seven over last year.

Angus calves averaging 415 pounds each found new homes with 45 club members in Lancaster County. The Angus calves were purchased in Maryland, Virgin ia and in other parts of Pennsylvania

A total of 57 boys and girls took home with them a Hereford calf to feed for the next 11 or 12 months. The "white faces" weighing an average of 405 pounds came from Colorado, West Virginia and Delaware

YOU WILL HAVE TO GROW A LOT before you can be a champion, seems to be what Maria Frey, Quarryville R2, is telling her new steer calf at the drawing of 4-H club calves last Saturday at the New Holland sales stables. Earlier this month Maria showed the Southeast District 4-H round-up Grand Champion at the Lancaster Stock yards This calf weighing just slightly over 500-pounds will have to gain around 2 pounds every day from now until next year at this time to become another champion. —LF PHOTO

For the Farm Wife and Family

It's Cranberry Time

Mrs. Richard C. Spence

Cranberries will be high on the list of preferred food this fall nutritionally as well as taste-wise. A serving of cranberries has about the same amount of calories as oranges, about 50. Cranberries also have a fairly high amount of vitamin C and small amounts of the other vitamins, particularly the B vitamins.

Cranberries are very tart because they are high in citric acid and pectin. They make good-tasting, pretty red jelly and are being used more extensively for this.

About half of the cranberry crop is sold as fresh berries to be used in the home for sauces, jelly, bakery goods, and fruit salad. The other half of the crop is processed into canned products.

Some of the new products on the market this fall using cranberries are cranberry syrup, relish, sauce, jams, Jel-ies and cocktail juice. Strained, whole sauce will be featured again. Spiced whole cranberries and frozen whole cranberries will also be a new taste for our fall menu. Cranberry puree for jams, ice cream desserts and bakery products made at home will add flavor to some of our old favorites.

Cranberry jams on the market are made with cranberries combined with rhubarb, strawberries or cherries. Cranberry sauce is combined with apple sauce for a new taste treat. Cranberry relish will be available either by the glass or as a frozen product.

Cranberry cider can be made at home using one cup canned cranberry juice with two to three cups of apple juice. You add 1 to 1½ lbs of sugar to a gallon of mixture.

With one of the biggest crops expected this fall, we are going to see the versatile cranberry used in many new products on the grocery shelves.

For a special cranberry dessert you can't miss with this Cranberry Upside-Down Cake. This cake provides six servings.

CRANBERRY UPSIDE-DOWN CAKE #1

Cranberry Mixture:
1½ cups finely ground cranberries
¾ cups sugar
¼ cup orange juice

Combine ingredients Bring to a boil and simmer 5 to 10 minutes Pour into a greased baking pan

Spongecake Mixture:
½ cup sifted cake flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
2 eggs
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon lemon juice
¼ cup hot milk

Sift flour and baking powder together three times Beat eggs until very thick and light. Add sugar gradually, beating until well blended. Add lemon juice. Fold in the flour-baking powder mixture gradually. Add milk and mix quickly until the batter is smooth. Pour batter over cranberry mixture in baking pan. Bake at 350 degrees about 30 minutes. Let stand in pan about 5 minutes. Then turn upside down on a cake plate and serve hot or cold.

Another version of the Upside-Down Cake. The cranberry mixture in this cake has a little more tang than the one above and the cake is more of the shortcake type.

CRANBERRY UPSIDE-DOWN CAKE #2

Cranberry Mixture:
½ cup packed brown sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
⅛ teaspoon allspice
⅓ cup orange juice
1 cup canned whole cranberry sauce
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ teaspoon shredded orange peel
Several drops red food coloring

Blend brown sugar, cornstarch, and allspice in a small saucepan. Add orange juice. Cook, stirring constantly until mixture reaches boiling point. Reduce heat to very low.
Continue to cook and stir until clear and very thick. Add remaining ingredients. Heat mixture to boiling point Pour into a 9x9x2 in square cake pan (bottom rubbed with shortening.)

Shortcake:
⅓ cup shortening
2 cups sifted all purpose flour
3 tablespoons sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup milk
1 egg, slightly beaten.

Sift together dry ingredients. Cut shortening into flour mixture with pastry blender or two knives, until mixture is consisency of coarse corn meal. Combine milk and slightly beaten egg. Add to flour mixture all at once. Stir with fork until batter is just blended. Spoon over cranberry mixture in pan. Bake in a very hot oven (450 degrees) about 12 minutes, or until golden brown. Turn upside-down on in the lot came from Centre county, Pennsylvania and weighed 400 and 410 pounds

Local club leaders had a few words of encouragement for the young cattle feeders about to embark on a program designed ta put about two pounds of gain per day in the right places on the carcasses of their calves.

In helping the club members get off to a good start, Max Smith, County Agent, told the youths that the calves had been through a period of stress during weaning and trucking in the past few days and should be treated kindly but firmly. He warned that now while the calves are small is the time to start training them because they can be handled easier. He also cautioned club members to never let the calf learn that it can run away from its owner or it will develop bad hobits and be harder to train later on.

Before the drawing for the calves, Donald Hosler, Manheim R3 and Fred Bernhard, Orchard Road, Mt Joy presented the demonstration they will enter in national competition at Club Congress in Chicago next week.

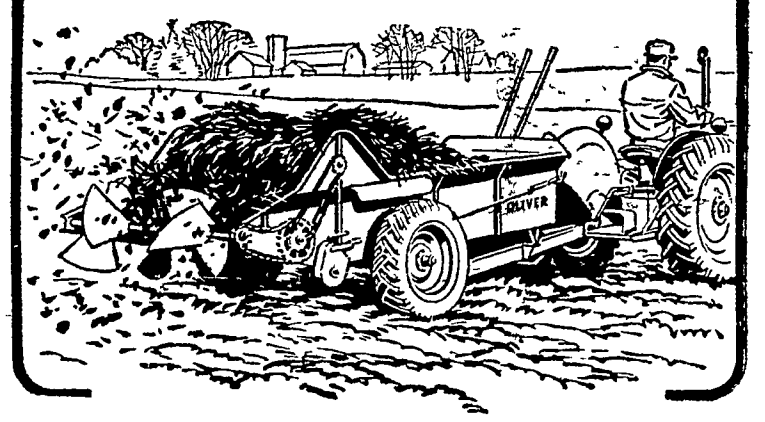
NEW OLIVER 90-Bushel No. 170

Speeds Up Spreading 4 Ways



One: This brawny new, ground-drive No. 170 has extra stamina, permits spreading at higher speeds. Its stout construction also gives you additional years of service at low upkeep.

Two: The 90-bushel, rot-resistant wood box is exceptionally low, end to end, to make loading faster and easier. There's no overhead cylinder arch in the way.

Three: Perfect balance adds weight to the tractor drawbar, increases traction in soft, muddy lots and fields. The big 6-bar main cylinder and Hammermill Widespread assure fine shredding and even coverage. And you have a choice of spreading rates—4 to 24 loads per acre.

Four: A short-coupled frame simplifies backing and maneuvering. The self-locking hitch stand makes hookup convenient. Heavy-duty roller bearings in the wheels (18 or 20 inches) lighten draft. Make your next spreader a sturdy, dependable, light-running Oliver.

Legal Notice

TO: JOHN W. McKINNON, and his heirs, legal representatives and assigns, generally:

You and each of you are hereby notified that on November 6, 1959, Leo G. Smith filed a complaint in an action to quiet title against you as defendants in the Court of Common Pleas of Lancaster County, Pa., and to which complaint you are required to answer, setting forth the following: John W. McKinnon, by virtue of an assignment dated June 19, 1907 from the Pennsylvania State Building & Loan Association became the owner of a mortgage against premises in Conestoga Township, Lancaster County, Pa., and which premises are more fully described in said complaint; that said mortgage, recorded in the Recorder's Office at Lancaster, Pa., in Mortgage Book 94, Page 197, was given by Edward Peaco to said Pennsylvania State Building & Loan Association, and assigned as aforesaid to John W. McKinnon, said assignment being recorded in said Recorder's Office in Mortgage Book 118, Page 266; that no payments on account of or acknowledgment of said mortgage indebtedness, have been made and no action to enforce the same have been brought since January 1, 1908; and that a presumption of payment of said mortgage has arisen because of the lapse of 21 years.

You and each of you are hereby notified that on January 15, 1960, at 9:30 A. M., plaintiff will ask the Court of Common Pleas of Lancaster County, Pa., at the Court House in Lancaster, Pa., to determine that said mortgage has been paid in full because of said presumption, and to order the Recorder of Deeds of Lancaster County, Pa., to satisfy said mortgage of record.

You can have a breath of spring in mid-winter, according to Mrs. Lynn Smith, Penn State extension ornamental floriculturist. She says you can pot bulbs of tulips, daffodils, narcissi, hyacinths, and similar flowers now. After a resting period they can be forced into bloom.

Animals returned from fairs and exhibits should be isolated from the rest of the farm livestock for at least 30 days as a herd health measure.

BURLING'S CHICKS
For Top Quality Eggs

This year, at NEPPCO, our egg quality was highest among all entries. These were hen eggs—after they had been laying 12 to 14 months. That's when Quality Eggs pay best.

At Bill Burling's you can find just what you want.

You have eight top strains and crosses to choose from. Our Sexlinks are very popular with nearby farmers.

Then there are the "pick" of the best strains and crosses for Broilers, or meat-and-eggs.

One customer said our Carey Leghorns are: "Just wonderful birds to handle". That's important in high-powered Leghorns.

Burling's Big 8

Carey's Famous Random Sample Test-winning Leghorns. A customer made a 270-egg average on 1800 birds!

Merryknoll Sexlink (Rock x Red)—Bred by electronic "brain" methods.

Golden Sexlinks — Harco male x Andrews White Rock female. They're tough, and great layers.

Cobb's White Rocks — Broiler Test winners and good layers too.

Vantress x Cobb White Rocks — Popular for meat.

Garrison Cornish Male x Cobb White Rock female Super meat quality.

Gove's Barred Rocks.. Still a favorite of many farmers.

Burling's New Hampshires. Carefully selected stock.

competition with a demonstration on the control and eradication of cattle grubs. These boys both students at Elizabethtown College, won state competition in livestock demonstration in August. The demonstration they will present in Chicago will not be the one used at Penn State University since the national contest calls for the subject to deal with the con servation phase of livest raising.

Kenneth Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Young and Melvin Shenk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shenk will be Pennsylvania's only 4-H club representatives at the International Dairy Show and the fifth annual 4-H Dairy Conference. Both Young and Shenk are high school graduates farming a " with their parents. The trip is an award for their win in the dairy demonstration contest at state 4-H club week.

According to Dr. William Smith, state 4-H leader at the Pennsylvania State University, Pennsylvania will have a delegation of 35 at Club Congress out of a 1500 total attendance.

National winners, best of the champions from all the states, and yet to be selected will share 100 cash scholarships worth $40,000.

Striking a balance between seriousness and fun, the 1500 delegates will take part in tours, exhibits, talks, assembly sesions, and group discussions.

One of the big events of the week will be a visit to the International Licestock and Dairy show.

A special feature of the program on December 2, will be a talk by Secretary of State, Christian Herter. Secretary Herter will addres the delegates and leaders at a luncheon.

In addition to other youth from Pennsylvania, the Lancaster County delegates will have an opportunity to meet youths from all the other 49 states and from Canada, Puerto Rico, and more than 20 foreign countries.

The delegates to the Dairy show will tour the downtown and Loop sections of Chicago, attend the national championship rodeo, and sit in on many other educational and entertainment features as the guests of many of the nation's biggest business and educational organizations

from
MILLER & BUSHONG

EFFICIENT, because each pellet contains a full feed formula. Complete. Uniform. Pellets provide a normal molasses ration. Digestibility is excellent. Pellets make it easier for the cow to consume its full allotment of ration in the milking parlor.

ECONOMICAL handling, because completely pelleted rations are more practical for convenient bulk feeding. No separation of pellets and fines. Your dairy herd enjoys a better balanced diet. What's more, there is less waste in handling and feeding.

CHOOSE Green Pasture 16% Dairy Ration or #22 Dry and Freshening Ration. Now, both completely pelleted for your convenience, economy, efficiency.

USERS
State:—

"These Pellets really flow down good."

"My cattle licked this stuff right up."

"Cows did not blow and sniff and look at them, but went right ahead and ate them. No trouble changing feed."

"My production has been unusually good since I used your pellets. Cows really eat them."

"Certainly seems more economical, no waste at all."

Mr. Dairyman

Are you wondering what these pellets will cost? Be reassured, it's much less than you think and they really do the job!

If you have no bulk tank facilities now, we'll be glad to help you work it out.
